

HAYWOOD SICK; TRIAL DELAYED

Was Taken Ill During The Night, And Two Doctors Were Called To Care For Him.

MAN ACCUSED OF CRIME BROKE DOWN

IDAHOTRIAL STOPPED BY ILLNESS OF THE PRISONER--JURY-SELECTING HAS BEEN TOO MUCH FOR HIS NERVES.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Boise, Idaho, June 1.—The Haywood trial was adjourned until one-thirty this afternoon on account of the prisoner's illness. Haywood was taken seriously ill in his cell in the county jail at one this morning. Two doctors were called and were with him for several hours. It is believed the prisoner is suffering from nervousness, the result of the strain of the jury getting. For some days he has complained of headaches and the guards say he has shown signs of restlessness. The physicians administered opiates but until these took effect Haywood was in great agony and his cries were heard in the jail yard. At eight this morning he was resting easily.

There are remaining but two vacancies in the jury that will try William D. Haywood for his life for alleged participation in the assassination of Frank Steenberg, and there is reason for hoping that they will be filled Saturday. As jury selection narrows down to final chances, interest in the case is being generated and the contest grows distinctly sharper. Both sides are eager and anxious, and they anxiously watch the last talesmen whose names are drawn from the lottery box on the desk of the clerk of the court.

The state has exhausted its arbitrary rights as to the personnel of the jury—

IN MEMORY OF THE ITALIAN LIBERATOR

PREPARATIONS BEING MADE FOR TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OBSERVANCE OF GARIBOLDI'S DEATH.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rome, June 1.—Preparations are being made in Rome and throughout Italy for appropriate observance tomorrow of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the death of Garibaldi, the great Italian liberator, who died June 2, 1882. Memorial exercises will be held in cities throughout the kingdom and a great pilgrimage of patriotic societies will be made to the Garibaldi tomb at Caprera. The son of a seaman, Garibaldi was born at Nice, 1807. After an adventurous youth, he became compromised in revolutionary movements, and had to exile himself. Some years were spent with republican insurgents fighting the imperial forces of Brazil. In 1848 Garibaldi was in Italy, and the leadership of the defence of Rome was entrusted to him. Rome had been proclaimed a republic, and it was besieged by the French. He defeated them in 1849, but the city fell into their hands at the end of a three months' siege. Victories over the Austrians followed, and his march to Sicily with his "thousand," in 1860.

SEATTLE STARTS ON FAIR PREPARATIONS

First Dirt Thrown on Site of Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition to be Held in 1909.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Seattle, Wash., June 1.—With interesting ceremonies and in the presence of a distinguished gathering of officials and other representatives of the state of Washington and the city of Seattle, ground was broken today for the Alaskan-Yukon-Pacific exposition, which is to be held here in 1909. Governor Mead had the honor of turning the first spade of earth.

The exposition will occupy eighty-five acres of ground and the work of clearing this site will proceed at once. As its name implies the exhibition will be devoted chiefly to the display of the resources and products of the Pacific coast region, the territory of Alaska and the Pacific possessions of the United States, including Hawaii and the Philippines. Congress will be asked for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the federal, insular and Alaska exhibits.

Kaukauna, Wis., June 1.—Fasting is fastening a cure for catarrh? After denying himself nourishment of any kind for seven days, W. H. Haworth, the plumber, is satisfied that he can cure himself in this manner. He was forced to discontinue the fast because of business interests, but he claims that as soon as possible he will take it up again and stop only when the cure is effected. Mr. Haworth lost five pounds a day during his fast. He is now subsisting on two meals a day.

ADMIRAL COUGHLAN RETIRES FROM NAVY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—Rear Admiral Casper F. Goodrich has been ordered to assume command of the navy yard at New York today as the relief of Rear Admiral J. B. Coughlan, retired, who has been given indefinite leave of absence. Admiral Goodrich has been in the navy since 1864 and has seen much important service. He was naval attache on the staff of Gen. Woolsey during the Tele-Kobir campaign of 1862, was a member of the Endicott fortifications board in 1885, was subsequently president of the naval war college at Newport, had command of the cruiser Newark during the Civil War, and more recently commanded the Pacific fleet.

DEAN OF SUPREME COURT CELEBRATES

JUSTICE JOHN M. HARLAN SEVENTY-FIVE TODAY—HAS BEEN ON BENCH THIRTY YEARS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—Justice John M. Harlan, dean of the associate justices of the United States supreme court, enters upon his seventy-fifth year today. He was appointed from Kentucky and has been on the supreme bench thirty years, or eleven years longer than Chief Justice Fuller, who comes next in point of service. Justice Harlan is seemingly as full of health as the best of men and though he has been eligible to retirement for several years he apparently entertains no idea of quitting the bench at any very early date. A change in administration is probably about the only thing that might bring about his retirement very soon. He is a republican, and a pretty strict party man, and should the democrats win next year he would probably give President Roosevelt the privilege of appointing his successor.

Grain rate reductions are heaviest on the southern roads.

ANNIVERSARY OF BISHOP SPALDING NOT CELEBRATED

ILLNESS OF ABLE ROMAN CATHOLIC PRELATE PREVENTED FESTIVITIES USUAL ON SUCH OCCASIONS.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Peoria, Ill., June 1.—Tomorrow will be the sixty-seventh birthday of one of the most interesting and brilliant members of the Roman Catholic episcopacy in America—John Lancaster Spalding, bishop of Peoria. There will be no celebration of the anniversary, owing to the grave condition of Bishop Spalding's health. Nearly two years ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis from which he has never recovered. Since then he has spent most of the time under treatment in a sanitarium, but there has been little noticeable improvement in his condition and it is feared that the able prelate will never resume his clerical duties.

Bishop Spalding comes of a family that for generations has occupied a high place in Roman Catholic annals in Europe and America. The first of the family to come to America came over with Lord Baltimore, so that Bishop Spalding can lay pretty good claim to the title of American. His uncle was the celebrated Archbishop Spalding of Baltimore.

John Lancaster Spalding was born in Kentucky and received his first education in that state. He also spent some time at Emmettsburg, and subsequently studied for five years at Mount St. Mary's, Cincinnati, which was then under control of the celebrated Bishop Rosecrans. He studied theology in Louvain, where he was ordained in 1863. After his ordination he took a special course of study in the Belgian college at Rome and returned to Louisville in 1865. He was assigned to the cathedral in that city and, in addition to his missionary duties, also acted as secretary to Bishop Lavalle.

He was named by Archbishop Blanchet of Oregon as his theologian at the second plenary council of Baltimore in 1866. He was also made one of the preachers of the council, though he was the youngest theologian in that assemblage. A short time afterward he went to New York, where for a time he was engaged in writing a biography of his uncle, the Archbishop of Baltimore.

In May, 1877, Father Spalding received a remarkable and unusual honor, being raised from a curate to a bishop and sent to the Peoria diocese, which was at that time quite scattered. There were fifty-one churches scattered over the entire territory, three of which were in the little town of Peoria itself. Within the comparatively short space of fifteen years Bishop Spalding had increased the number of churches to 130, with fifty schools and academies, seven hospitals, a home for aged people, a college and nearly 200 priests. The diocese today is considered one of the best organized in America.

Newly Invented Devices Might Cheapen Service But All Have Been Relegated to Shelf by Monopoly.

(Special Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., June 1.—Everybody loves "Mars," Henry Watterson. He calls himself a democrat, but his work has done much for the republican party. He preaches tariff reform, and helps the party of protection to stay in power. Democrats having political memory regret that in late years Col. Watterson should have drifted away from progressive democracy. He holds, of course, that democracy has drifted away from him very much as the man in the middle of the regiment marching in line across the parade ground complains that he was in step, but the other nine hundred marchers were out of step. Col. Watterson whose brilliancy we all admire seems to be out of the few men out of step with his party since 1896. Yet his personality is so amiable, his past service so admirable that no one in the democratic party has it in his heart to say a word of criticism though it is possible to address a word of inquiry.

In the Louisville Courier-Journal which Col. Watterson has edited with great ability for many years, appeared on Wednesday an editorial to the substance of which it may be worth while quoting. He says that it has been frequently given out that Mr. Bryan does not want the nomination next year. Mr. Watterson is probably correct in that statement. But there are people who want Mr. Bryan to take the nomination that the editor of the Courier-Journal did not suggest, and he does not seem to be one of them. He goes on to say that if the Nebraska wishes to play Warwick he (Watterson) "can tell him of a democrat who, without entangling alliances with any of the money powers" is "yet without any antecedents which could drive away conservative democrats." Watterson asserts that the man whom he has in his mind supported the ticket in 1896.

Mr. Watterson didn't support the democratic ticket in 1896, nor was he very enthusiastic in 1900. Possibly for these reasons the democratic party may be disinclined to accept his judgment as to the individual he has in mind. He says that the man does not live East of the Alleghenies nor South of the Potomac and Ohio Rivers.

A Poetic Tribute.
Some years ago Mr. Watterson had one of those political "brainstorms" and denounced every possible democratic nominee. Then hinted darkly at some one he had in mind, but whom he would not name. A flippant newspaper poet at that time wrote these verses which have just appeared in a Louisville newspaper.Watterson's Candidate.

The Department of Animal Husbandry of the University of Wisconsin reports the recent sale of their choice Berkshire boar, Star Masterpiece 2nd, No. $3232, to H. C. Taylor, Oxfordville, Wis., for the extraordinary sum of one thousand dollars. This price, so far as can be learned, exceeds any price ever paid for a hog bred and developed in Wisconsin.

This animal was bred by Mr. Taylor, and when about two months old was discovered in his herd along with a very fine litter mate. Mr. Taylor was urged to sell one of the pigs to the university which he finally consented to do in spite of the fact that he was a regent of the university at the time.

The price paid was seventy-five dollars, which would be a very high price for an ordinary pig at this time.

The breeding of this pig, however, together with his promising characteristics, gave assurance of his developing into an animal of unusual merit.

Telegraph Companies.

There is trouble in Oklahoma because the new constitution limit railroad fares and telegraph rates. There is bitter outcry against "poor old Missouri" because its legislature passed a bill limiting the charges of telegraph companies to two cents a word.

Strangely enough the arrogant action of the telegraph-trust in increasing its charges by from twenty-five to sixty per cent has not had half as much newspaper comment as the attempt of the people's representatives to protect the customers of that trust.

A NEW BUSINESS RELATIONSHIP.—The equal interest in the insurance business of Dimock & Lawrence, recently owned by Mr. F. S. Lawrence has been purchased by Mr. Daniel Wilcox, who takes possession today. Mr. W. is an old resident of Janesville, being connected for many years with the Gazette as one of the proprietors, and has a very general acquaintance with the people of Rock county. He has justly the reputation of being one of the best business men in these parts, and anything he puts his hand to is sure to prosper, by reason of the unremitting attention he gives it. As gentlemanly and prompt as he is efficient, those with whom he has to deal will find it a pleasure to transact business with him. The firm of Dimock & Wilcox is a strong one, and will secure to itself a generous share of a fair sum.

THE ENTERTAINMENT LAST EVENING.—The attendance at Lappin's Hall last evening on the occasion of the presentation of Fox and Cox, the Release of Jeff Davis, etc., was very good indeed. The piano music by Miss Edita Wilson and Prof. Titcomb showed superior excellence on the part of both musicians, and the vocal music by the gentlemen was well received. Mr. King's recitation was really fine, and the tableau in illustration of the poem was excellent. Fox and Cox went off spiritedly and much to the gratification of the audience. In the burlesque on the release of Jeff Davis the gentlemen who took the part acquitted themselves well. Many excellent points were made and bits given, and some of the speeches were really fine, though nearly all were too long. Mr. Rogers as Jeff. Davis and Burgess as Greeley took to their respective characters as ducks to water. The entertainment must have netted a fair sum.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

"Before water generates steam, it must register two hundred and twelve degrees of heat. Two hundred degrees will not do it; two hundred and ten will not do it. The water must boil before it will generate enough steam to move an engine to run a train. Lukewarm water will not run anything."

"A great many people are trying to move their life trains with lukewarm water or water that is almost boiling—and they are wondering why they are stalled, why they can not get ahead. They are trying to run a boiler with two hundred or two hundred and ten degrees of heat, and they can't understand why they do not get anywhere."

"There is an infinite distance between the wishers and the doers. A mere desire is lukewarm water which never will take a train to its destination; the purpose must boil, must be made into live steam."

This choice sentiment, expressed by a writer in the June number of "Success," is so suggestive that it is worth considering. The pathway of life is lined with failures caused by people who are constantly trying, but never accomplishing.

This is an age when people who are boiling over with enthusiasm and purpose, are in demand and while the lukewarm are not necessarily idle, they are the first to feel the pressure of hard times.

The engine which stands on the siding, under low pressure of steam, waiting to take out the incoming train, is perfect in every part, but will never attempt the long mountain climb until the steam gauge registers the necessary amount of reserve force to carry her up the grade.

She will slip down the other side of the mountain with brakes set, under the power of momentum, but this is no test of strength. A boulder let loose would accomplish the same thing.

The work of life is on the dead level and the grades, and both require power, which can only be produced at the boiling point.

There is a difference however between power and enthusiasm. The warm blood of youth responds to the touch of impulse—with the readiness of the electric current, and is ready at a moment's notice for any emergency, but the power is in the reservoir, and not in the spark.

Wind-Power Stored Up.

A young man, fresh from school, strolled into an office and applied for a position. He enjoyed the record of a good class standing, had passed a creditable examination, and fired with enthusiasm and assurance, stepped out into life; impressed with the notion that the world was not only waiting for him but suffering for lack of his services.

The man at the desk looked him over and said, "My boy, what can you do?" "Oh, anything," he replied. "All I want is an opportunity." Then he was startled by the calm cold statement: "Young man, this house has no place for men who can do anything. When you get where you can do some one thing well, come around and see us. You have plenty of steam in the boiler, but are a little short of fuel in the bunkers."

He went away to think over the proposition. It was a new experience, and yet the more he thought about it, the more he was impressed. A few days later he was in the office again. The man at the desk recognized him, and said, "Well, my boy, what is it?"

In a tone free from egotism he replied: "I just want an opportunity to stock up fuel by having the chance to learn to do some one thing well." He secured the opportunity, compensated at the foot of the ladder, and in a few years, under full head of steam and well equipped with reserve force was ready for a career and destiny.

It requires a combination of steam and fuel to make the journey. A dead engine with plenty of coal and no steam, is just as helpless as a live engine with full head of steam and no coal."

So it requires both enthusiasm and resources to get anywhere on the trip which humanity is making at such rapid pace.

There are plenty of men between the ages of 60 and 80, who are dying of dry rot. They have plenty of resources, both physical and mental, but refuse to use them, and soon become as dependent as a child, through inactivity.

This is a mistaken notion, and contributes largely to premature death and decay. The joints may not be quite as supple, and the step may be a little slower, but it pays to keep going.

The readers of the Gazette recently enjoyed reading a letter from Charles Holt, the veteran editor, who at the age of 90, expresses himself as clearly as when he wrote for Janesville readers 40 years ago.

Many of you say, "A remarkable man." Why? Simply because he has drawn on the God-given resources with which he is endowed, and kept his mind and heart young, by daily contact with men and affairs. Living on borrowed time for 20 years, yet younger at 90 than many men at 70.

But lukewarmness is not confined to old people. There are plenty of young people, and men and women in the prime of life, who are partially on the retired list because failing to use the resources at hand.

This is an age when men and women are in demand. Not scarecrows nor skeletons, but full-bodied able-bodied representatives of a race which has no superior. There is work for every man to do. He has the resources to make and maintain the steam that will carry him over the grades and on to destiny.

MADISON JOURNAL HAS BUILT ROAD

CLAIMS INTERURBAN IS ASSURED BY NEW YORK REPORT.

STORY BONDS ARE SOLD

Says Cleveland Parties Have Purchased Them—John I. Beggs Said to be Interested in Deal.

Once more this report is sent out that the proposed interurban between Janesville and Madison has been assured. This time the Madison Journal has a story to this effect and claims that the work of construction will begin just as soon as certain franchises are secured. The Madison paper claims that the company formed by Mr. Montgomery, owner of the Madison line, is the one which has succeeded in selling its bonds of two million dollars and publishes the following dispatch under a New York date line:

The Dispatch.

In street railway circles this morning, on Wall street, it was stated that arrangements to take over the $2,000,000 bond issue of the Southern Wisconsin Light and Traction company had been completed through a group of Cleveland financiers, of which Dan Hanna is identified and that the bonds will be later put on sale from time to time, as funds are needed. They are to be available, through the Boston and New York banking house of Gay Brothers.

Much Rivalry.

It also appears that there is considerable rivalry between the Westinghouse company of the General Electric and a western concern—unnamed—but undoubtedly either the Allis Chalmers of Milwaukee or the Western Electric of Chicago—as to who shall have the electric equipment and machinery contracts, with a consequent result of friction among these several promoters and financiers of the project.

Beggs Interested.

It is also stated that John I. Beggs, who has important interests in the Milwaukee and St. Louis city railway systems, is prominent in the Southern Wisconsin Light and Traction company.

From the situation as understood here nothing hinders the beginning of the work at once on the line unless it be the lack of some needed franchises which are being waited for, or friction as to where the contracts for the construction are to be placed. But the matter is financing, even in a slow bear market, seems to have been satisfactorily disposed of.

The Journal's Say.

The principal significance of the foregoing dispatch, which comes from an unimpeachable news-source, is the fact that a market has been found for the bonds of the Southern Wisconsin Light & Traction company, organized by President F. Warren Montgomery of the Madison & Interurban Traction company, to boost an interurban, between Madison and Janesville by way of the lakes—Cleveland—O., is—the hotbed of electric railway investment, with Dan Hanna grand sachem of the capitalistic powwow, and the news that he has entered the ring, together with John I. Beggs of Milwaukee, renders it all the more interesting to Madison and surrounding cities and towns affected by the proposed interurban. Whether President Montgomery is still financially working with the syndicate is not known. In view of this latest news it is patent that it was found impossible to float the bond issue in Wisconsin.)

ON COMPLAINT OF HUMANE SOCIETY

James Casey Appeared in Court This Morning to Answer to Charge of Whipping Horse Unduly.

James Casey, aged seventeen, who drives one of the delivery wagons for the Thomas Courtney meat market, appeared in municipal court this morning, to answer to the charge of wantonly whipping a dark brown horse on Terrace street at an early hour this morning. It appears from the boy's statement that the aforesaid brown horse is of an ugly disposition and had been kicking and was trying to run away at the time he resorted to the use of the whip. The complaint was made by Mary E. Webster and filed by President Wilson Lane of the Humane society. The young man entered a plea of "guilty" but the court held the case open until Friday morning next at 11 o'clock in order that the facts and merits of the incident might be ascertained.

ASPINWALL REPEATS HIS MADISON STUNT

Again Second in 100-Yard and Third in 220-Yard Dashes at Ripon Yesterday.

Lee Aspinwall, representing the Janesville high school in the Ripon college interscholastic track and field meet at Ripon yesterday afternoon, captured four points. He took second place in the 100-yard dash and third in the 220-yard sprint. These victories are identical with his performances in the state meet at Madison last Saturday. W. B. Tallman was in Ripon to compete in the high and broad jumps and low hurdle race, but was prevented by sickness from going into the events.

Nearly $1,000 is being expended by John Hurd in having his farm-house, barns, and other buildings on his town of Fulton estate wired for electricity. The current is to be brought from the Indian Ford plant, a mile and a half away. The power will also be used for pumping, and other light work.

There will be a meeting of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at their hall tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Business of importance.

Society..REVIVAL STARTS SUNDAY EVENING

SCOVILLE MEETINGS TO OPEN TOMORROW NIGHT.

ADVANCE MAN IS EXPECTED

PASTORS MET LAST EVENING AND DECIDED UPON QUESTIONS RELATIVE TO THE GREAT WORK.

There was a helpful gathering of the Christian people of the city at the Methodist church last evening. Announcement was made that Dr. Thomas P. Ulom, the evangelistic associate of Dr. Scoville, and Mr. Loss Smith, soloist, would arrive in the city Saturday evening and would conduct a union service at the rink on South River street Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Busy men and women are fast putting the large auditorium into shape and its capacity will probably be tested at the opening service. The plans of Dr. Ulom will doubtless be announced in further detail at the morning services at the churches.

The first meeting addressed by Dr. Ulom will be a conference of men at the Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock. It is expected that all men interested in the furtherance of the cause will be present. The country over there is new emphasis on the work of men for religion and this service is in tune with the larger movement.

Dr. Scoville arrives in the city some time next week to take personal charge of the work.

RUNAWAY CARS HIT INCOMING FREIGHT

Crash in Local Yards of St. Paul Road Last Evening Resulted in Damage to Locomotive.

Two freight cars broke loose from a string in the new yards of the C. The locomotive, number 1611, was considerably damaged, the pilot being broken and the "front end" being crushed in. Luckily no one was injured.

CASE TRIED IN CIRCUIT COURT

Oral Testimony Concluded in Electric Co. vs. Pliny Norcross Action Today.

Oral testimony was concluded in circuit court today in the action of the Janesville Electric Co. vs. Pliny Norcross and briefs will be submitted by the attorneys at a later time. The case is concerned with the construction to be placed upon a contract entered into by the defendant and the plaintiff with the Edgerton Electric Light Co. to light Edgerton with current furnished from the plants at the Indian Ford and Fulton dams. According to the terms of the agreement the money to be paid might be turned over to either one or the other of the parties. The Edgerton Co. paid the whole amount to Mr. Norcross, owner of the Indian Ford plant, and when the latter came to make a settlement he claimed that the Janesville Electric Co. was only entitled to an amount in proportion to the power furnished from the Fulton plant. The Electric Co. claimed a full one-half share in the proceeds regardless of the amount of service rendered, alleged to have been considerably less than half. Judge Grimm presided this afternoon, and will return to Janesville to open the June term on Monday.

JUNIORS DECIDE TO DECORATE AS USUAL

Long Range Weather Prophet Tells What May be Expected During June.

Rev. Irl Hicks, the long range weather prophet, has the following predictions to make regarding the present month:

A storm period extends from the 2d to the 7th. It is central on the 4th and will be preceded by marked rise of temperature, with rain and decided fall of the barometer, and the culmination will come in sudden and severe thunder storms, cloudbursts, hail, wind, and possible tornadoes.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 9th, 10th, and 11th. This period will bring excessive warmth, very low barometer, abnormal humidity and violent thunder and wind storms. June thunder clouds will break in hail storms and cloudbursts in many localities during this period.

Third storm period will prove one of the most decided times of turmoil in June. It is central on the 15th and will come to its culminating stages during Sunday the 16th, to Tuesday the 18th.

A reactionary storm period falls centrally on the 20th, 21st, and 22nd. The moon passes over the celestial equator, working southward, on the 20th. On and touching that day, look for sudden and very decided rise of temperature, with corresponding fall of the barometer—beginning, of course, in western sections—followed quickly by phenomenal lightning and thunder, with violent wind in many localities. Solstice cloudbursts and local floods may be put down as certain for this storm period.

The fifth storm period has its center on the 27th, reaching from the 25th to the 29th. Low barometer and other storm conditions will appear at the very beginning of this period, and solstice storms of rain, wind, and thunder will continue daily through the greater part of the month, especially over central to eastern parts of the country. The probabilities are that the heaviest and most general rains in June will fall during this closing period of the month.

OBITUARY.

Miss Agnes Welch

Miss Agnes Welch died about five o'clock Friday morning in a hospital at Beloit, her home city. She had been ill about a month and had undergone an operation, but this effort to save her life was unavailing. This death is particularly sad as her mother passed away just four months ago. She is survived by one brother, Charles of Janesville, and two sisters—Gertrude and Mrs. Robt. West of Beloit. Funeral will be held at 2:30 from the house and 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from St. Thomas' church, Beloit.

Mrs. Almira Bennett

Almira Dunning was born in Saratoga county, N. Y., May 6, 1820, and died May 26, 1907, aged 97 years and 20 days. She was married to John G. Bennett in 1848, who died Jan. 17, 1896. To them five children were born, two having preceded them to the other world. She came with her husband to Lima, Rock county, in 1852, and settled upon the farm where she died. She was a member of the North Johnston Baptist church about forty years, where she was a faithful attendant as long as her health would permit. Since the death of her husband she was tenderly cared for. In the home of her youngest son, O. W. Bennett. The funeral was conducted by Rev. L. W. Chapman, who spoke comforting words from Rev. 2:10—"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." Song services were rendered by Mrs. L. W. Chapman and Mrs. Will Reed.

DOCTORS MISTAKES

Trouble with Seniors Over Disappearance of Football Trophy Cup Will Not Interfere.

After a stormy session the junior class of the high school voted yesterday afternoon to decorate the auditorium for the graduation exercises of the seniors. It has been the custom of the juniors to do this, but this year there was much friction between them and the seniors over the disappearance of the Denison football trophy cup. On the day the juniors captured this prize it vanished and the seniors were suspected. Efforts to trace it have been fruitless and the consensus of opinion now is that the cup was stolen for its money value, though the seniors for a time after the disappearance pretended to have knowledge of its whereabouts. The juniors will complete their studies next Wednesday, having examinations on Thursday and Friday and he allowed the days intervening for decoration.

AFFECTS TAXATION OF GRAIN.

Important Decision Made by Minnesota Supreme Court.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 1.—The supreme court has decided that the Northwestern Elevator company of Minneapolis need not pay the personal property assessment on 29,000 bushels of grain stored in its elevators at the Minnesota transfer.

The Ramsey county court decided that the Northwestern Elevator company should be assessed for the grain in the elevators, because the grain was sold by the elevator company as its own property.

The elevator company asserted that the grain in the elevators belonged to farmers and they appealed to the supreme court. That court has decided that the only tax that can be collected from the Northwestern Elevator company was on its office furniture, which amounted to about $250.

This is considerably the most important decision, as it may affect every elevator company in the state in regard to taxation of the grain in the elevators. The assessment on the grain in the northwestern elevator at the Minnesota transfer was about $250.

Minnesota Jurist Dead.

St. Paul, June 1.—An Owatonna Minn., special to the Pioneer Press says: Judge Lewis L. Wheelock dropped dead at his home in the city Friday afternoon. He has been prominent for years in Minnesota politics, at one time being considered as a probable candidate for governor, and serving several terms in the Minnesota senate.

A MAKER OF HISTORY

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM,
Copyright, 1905, 1906, by LITTLE, BROWN and COMPANY.

"With no one," the vicomte repeated impressively. "Not even, mademoiselle, it I may venture to mention, name, with your very persistent admirer, Sir George Duncombe, whom I saw here a few moments since."

She sighed, and the vicomte's face became one of pale anxiety.

"I have not been permitted to see him," she answered. "He was here a few minutes ago."

"It is wiser so, mademoiselle," the vicomte said. "I wonder," he added, "whether mademoiselle will pardon the impertinence of a purely personal question?"

"I will try," she answered demurely. "This Englishman, Sir George Duncombe—are you perhaps—how say you, betrothed to him?"

A certain bluntness in the question and the real or affected anxiety of the young man's tone brought the color streaming into her cheeks.

"Monsieur," she exclaimed, "you really must not!"

"Ah, but, mademoiselle," he interrupted, "so much depends upon your answer."

"Absurd!" she murmured. "I really do not see why I should answer such a question at all."

"You will be merciful," he begged, lowering his tone.

"I will," she answered. "I hope you will appreciate my confidence. I am not engaged to Sir George Duncombe."

His sigh of relief was marvelous. She found it harder than ever to keep the laughter from her eyes.

"Mademoiselle," he declared, "it makes me happy to have you say this."

"Really, vicomte," she protested.

"The situation, too," he said, "becomes less complex. We can very easily deal with him now. He shall annoy you no more!"

"But he doesn't annoy me," she answered calmly. "On the contrary, I should like to see him very much if I were permitted."

"Mademoiselle will understand well the indiscretion," he said earnestly.

She sighed a little wearily.

"I am afraid," she said, "that I find it a little hard to understand anything clearly, but you see that I trust you I will not see him."

"Mademoiselle is very wise," he answered. "Indeed, it is better not. There remains now a question which I have come to ask."

"Well?"

"Mademoiselle did not by chance while waiting for her brother think of examining his luggage?"

She nodded.

"I did look through it," she admitted.

"There was a paper there, which is missing now—a sheet of paper with writing on it—in German. It is not possible that mademoiselle took possession of it," he demanded eagerly.

She nodded.

"That is just what I did do," she said. "I could read a few words, and I could not understand how it came to be in his bag. It seemed to be part of an official agreement between two countries."

"You have it now?" he cried eagerly. "You have it in your possession?"

She shook her head.

"I gave it to some one to take care of," she said, "when I was over in England. I got frightened when we were nearly caught at Runton, and I did not want it to be found upon me."

"To whom?" he cried.

"To Sir George Duncombe!" The vicomte was silent for a moment. "You believe," he asked, "that Sir George Duncombe would guard it carefully?"

"I am sure he would," she answered.

"Mademoiselle," he said, "this is very important. Your brother's luggage has been searched, and we came to the conclusion that the paper had been taken

Good News for Him.

"I know a most improvident fellow down in Tennessee," says a native of that state. "One day his wife asked him to buy some flour, of which they had none. 'I can't,' he told her. 'I haven't a cent.' But we can starve," she expostulated tearfully. "I'm glad to hear it," he replied. "I was afraid maybe we could." — Kansas City Times.

Who Says Good Lightning Rods Are a Sure Protection?

Answer: Every Philosophy; every Encyclopedia; every College and University; every scientific man; every thinker.

Who Says Rods Are No Protection?

Answer: The Hottentots of the South Sea Islands; the Kaffirs of Africa; the superstitious; those who refuse to investigate and who rate Philosophy as Fiction and Science as Heresy.

Dodd & Struthers, of Des Moines, Ia., make the best rod in the world. It is made from 30 pure, soft, copper wires, and is a model of science and beauty. It is made in continuous lengths, and therefore never comes to pieces. It is not handled by lightning rod sharks, but by men of integrity and skill, and none but men of good character are allowed to handle it at all.

Two Thousand Insurance Companies

in state and national conventions have indorsed the Dodd & Struthers pure copper cable lightning rod system and that alone. The Highest Award at the St. Louis World's Fair was given to this rod.

An Absolute Guarantee

from Dodd & Struthers is given with every job—and the guarantee is as good as a National Bank.

I am sole agent for this rod in Janesville and vicinity and will be glad to give you full particulars and demonstrate its workings. I have a little booklet, too, that you will enjoy reading, which explains all about the Dodd & Struthers system. Ask for it.
